Description

These instructions appear in diary entries that span several months of treatments for Booth's wife, Hannah (Proudfoot) Booth. She died 22 February 1789. In letters dated 23 February 1789, Booth attributed her death to a "nervous fever" (William Booth, Remarks and Rough Memorandums: Captain William Booth, Corps of Royal Engineers, Shelburne, Nova Scotia 1787, 1789, edited by Eleanor Robertson Smith, Shelburne County Archives and Genealogical Society, 2008, pp. 35-36).
